In Memory of

Diane Kay Jordan Jones
26 November 1942 – 8 November 2002

Diane Kay Jordan Jones studied music and was also active in the local 4-H Club during her youth. In her adult years, she took up the study of her ancestors and came to the attention of the staff of the Muskogee Public Library as a consequence. She was first hired when an opening for a part-time position in the Grant Foreman Collection occurred. Later she obtained a full-time position.

Throughout Diane's employment in the library, she showed a willingness to help patrons with their research problems. She was especially helpful when sharing her own research experiences in a teaching mode. Patrons were delighted that someone knew how they were struggling with their research road-blocks and had suggestions for climbing over them.

Little seen by local Muskogee researchers were the after-hour assistance Diane provided over the internet. Though many correspondents are still unaware of Diane's departure, those who are have voiced their dismay and loss. Diane reached out to many in a generous way via numerous genealogical chats.

In her personal life, Diane was private in her personal affairs. Knowing that her illness would one day limit her activities and life, she kept her health and finance issues to herself. In doing so, she allowed her acquaintances to enjoy her character and personality without sentiment.

Baseball Meeting, Weldon Resigns

I hereby offer my resignation as manager of the Boynton baseball team. I do not want to see the team disband, first, because baseball is the only Sunday entertainment we have. Second, that we have a good winning team. Third, that we forfeit our standing in the O. H. O. league and the $50 deposit with the league.

A meeting is called for this Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Odd Fellow hall, Dr. W. E. Pearce, president, in charge, for the purpose of accepting the above resignation.

Florence Nancy Timberlake Stine by Alissa Hill, MCGS Vice-President

Florence was born May 14, 1895 in Marlin, Texas to John Anderson and Laura Belle Box Timberlake. John and Florence ran a general store in Yahola, Oklahoma for many years.

She married John Clarence Stine, July 31, 1920. He was born June 15, 1885 in Lincoln, KS. Florence died December 24, 1979 in Muskogee, Muskogee County, Oklahoma and is buried in Greenhill Cemetery. She raised three children, Joseph George Stine, James Harold Stine, John Louis Stine.

Florence's father, John Anderson Timberlake was born December 5, 1858 in Canadian District, Cherokee Indian Nation, Indian Territory and died August 31, 1948 in Muskogee, Muskogee County, Oklahoma. He is buried in Greenhill Cemetery. John was a delegate of the Five Civilized Tribes at Woodrow Wilson's presidential inauguration. John's parents were Richard Timberlake and Catherine (Kate) Blevins Cheek Timberlake.

John's father, Richard, was born about 1830 in Cherokee Indian, Georgia. Richard traveled to Oklahoma on the Trail of Tears. Richard's parents were, Charles Timberlake and Liddia Hicks Timberlake.

Charles Timberlake was the son of Richard Timberlake and Nancy Brown.

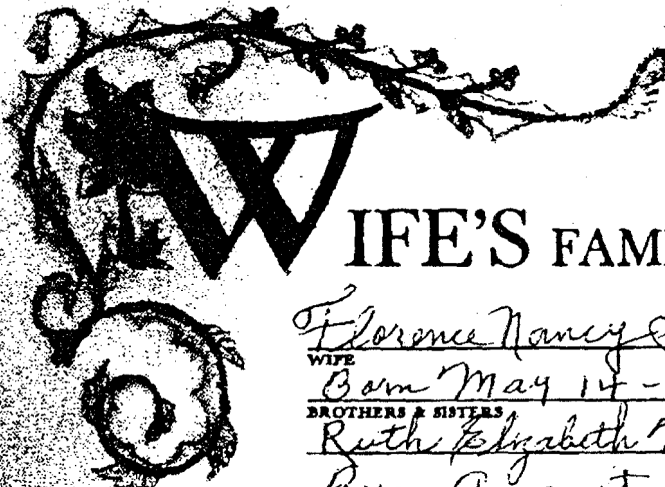

Richard Timberlake was the son of Lt. Richard Henry Timberlake and the daughter of Judd's Friend, Oo-ste-na-ca [Judd's Friend, Ooticite, Mankiller of Keowee].

Oo-ste-na-ca was an Overhill Cherokee war chief who, in about 1762 joined Lt. Richard Henry Timberlake to go to London to see King George III.

As related to Alissa Hill, Richard Timberlake would be my 5th great grandfather. And Oostenaco would be my 6th great grandfather.

Excerpts from the Timberlake Stine family bible are included on the following two pages.

At the December 2002 monthly meeting, Stacy Blundell led the genealogy surname game amongst the membership in attendance. Over 183 surnames were included in the game and here's a tale about us cousins:

This is just a little bit of History of our 183 cousins in our MCGS Family !

U, X and Z were not known by any.

I, N, Q and Y each only had one.

The largest bunch of cousins all have names that start with B,

But to find the most popular surname,

Read the story below and see !!

There once was a BAKER who liked to make BROWN bread.

He sold it to a farmer who had many BARNES on his homestead.

He met a lady that came from CRAWFORD county,

Well known for its country HICKS and fancy mounties.

They married and made a grand home upon the HILL,

And with many children their house was soon filled.

JOHNSON soon became a man and married a WHITE woman

LESTER family move away with her and he'd be alone again.

Their son , MITCHELL married too and many children they had,

SCOTT, and two PHILLIPS to name a few.

One was a TAYLOR and one worked as a SMITH.

The youngest found his true love and told his folks

He was gonna WALKER all the way out West!!

This simple beginning shows how we became cousins and part of the MCG family. Oh, and by the way -

the old family home up on the HILL

still stands today

And of all the surnames

HILL

is the Best !!

LAND DEAL

Last week the Oktaha Land Co. sold 100 acres west of town to Hastings Bros., Quincy, Ill. And R. C. Summers, Muskogee for $31 an acre. This is the best price obtained for farm land is only a hint of what ground is worth in this vicinity and how land values are increasing. Prospective buyers should get in now before prices soar again.

GOOD ROADS

The meeting Tuesday evening held under the auspices of the Commercial Club, in the interest of good roads was well attended. Those who were delegated to serve as overseers for the different roads reported. The reports were very encouraging, the farmers are turning out and with teams and implements are making all our roads pleasure drives. Co-operation was never more successful than here where farmers and merchants join hands for the betterment of existing conditions. The treasurer reported $91.50 on hand.

Joel Hobbs was appointed overseer of the "West" road.

It was an interesting meeting all through.

At the conclusion of the road business the Commercial Club meeting adjourned and the meeting resolved itself into a citizens meeting, and A. M. Darling was chosen chairman, and in a few well chosen remarks; announced we were open for school business.

W.L. Lett presented a petition requesting the mayor to call an election for a single school district. The Petition was signed by Councilmen Lett, Brashears and Waldron.

Dr. Lett told of his willingness to aid the move for the free schools, and Dr. Snelson informed the meeting that if we would furnish free school for those inside the corporation the government would provide for those outside. The petition was circulated and freely signed, and now, through the uniting of former opponents, Oktaha will have the greatest of all, free schools.

Every vote cast against the single school district is a vote of degradation. Will you degrade or build up your home?

Mrs. A. M. Darling is confined to her bed seriously ill.

WANTED—Printer to take charge of a country weekly. Address or call American, Oktaha, I. T.

Mrs. Lewis and daughter, Dallas, Texas, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Rich.

There has been a great scarcity of butter and eggs in town lately. Farmers are neglecting a profitable side issue, and then if the merchants would get some creamery butter once in a while they could find a good market for it. It can be had in Muskogee and people will buy it.

The following Checotah gentlemen went to Oktaha Wednesday to install a new Masonic lodge at that place: J. G. Adams, N. G, Turk, J. T. Ellis, L. A. Johnson, Thomas Byers and J. B. Morrow. J. F. Adams represented the grand master on the occasion. The session as an all night affair and the boys showed the effects of it, but all report a royal time.

A History of the Cherokees

Review by Alissa Hill, MCGS Vice-President

Mr. West states in his forward "There have been so many outstanding Cherokees and non-Cherokees who cast their lot with these noble people that it would be difficult to include all of them" but he did include in this book a chapter entitled "Cherokees in England". Where Mr. West tells about Lt. Henry Timberlake and his expedition to the Cherokee towns situated on the Little Tennessee and Tellico Rivers, his befriending of the Cherokees. Then the voyage that Lt. Timberlake took along with Cherokee delegates, Ostenaco, Pouting Pigeon and Stalking Turkey to England.

Lt. Timberlake and Sgt. Thomas Sumtner were sent to the Cherokee towns along the Tennessee and Tellico rivers to help establish better English and Cherokee relations. Mr. West tells about the journey to England and the party's adventure in England while waiting to see the King.

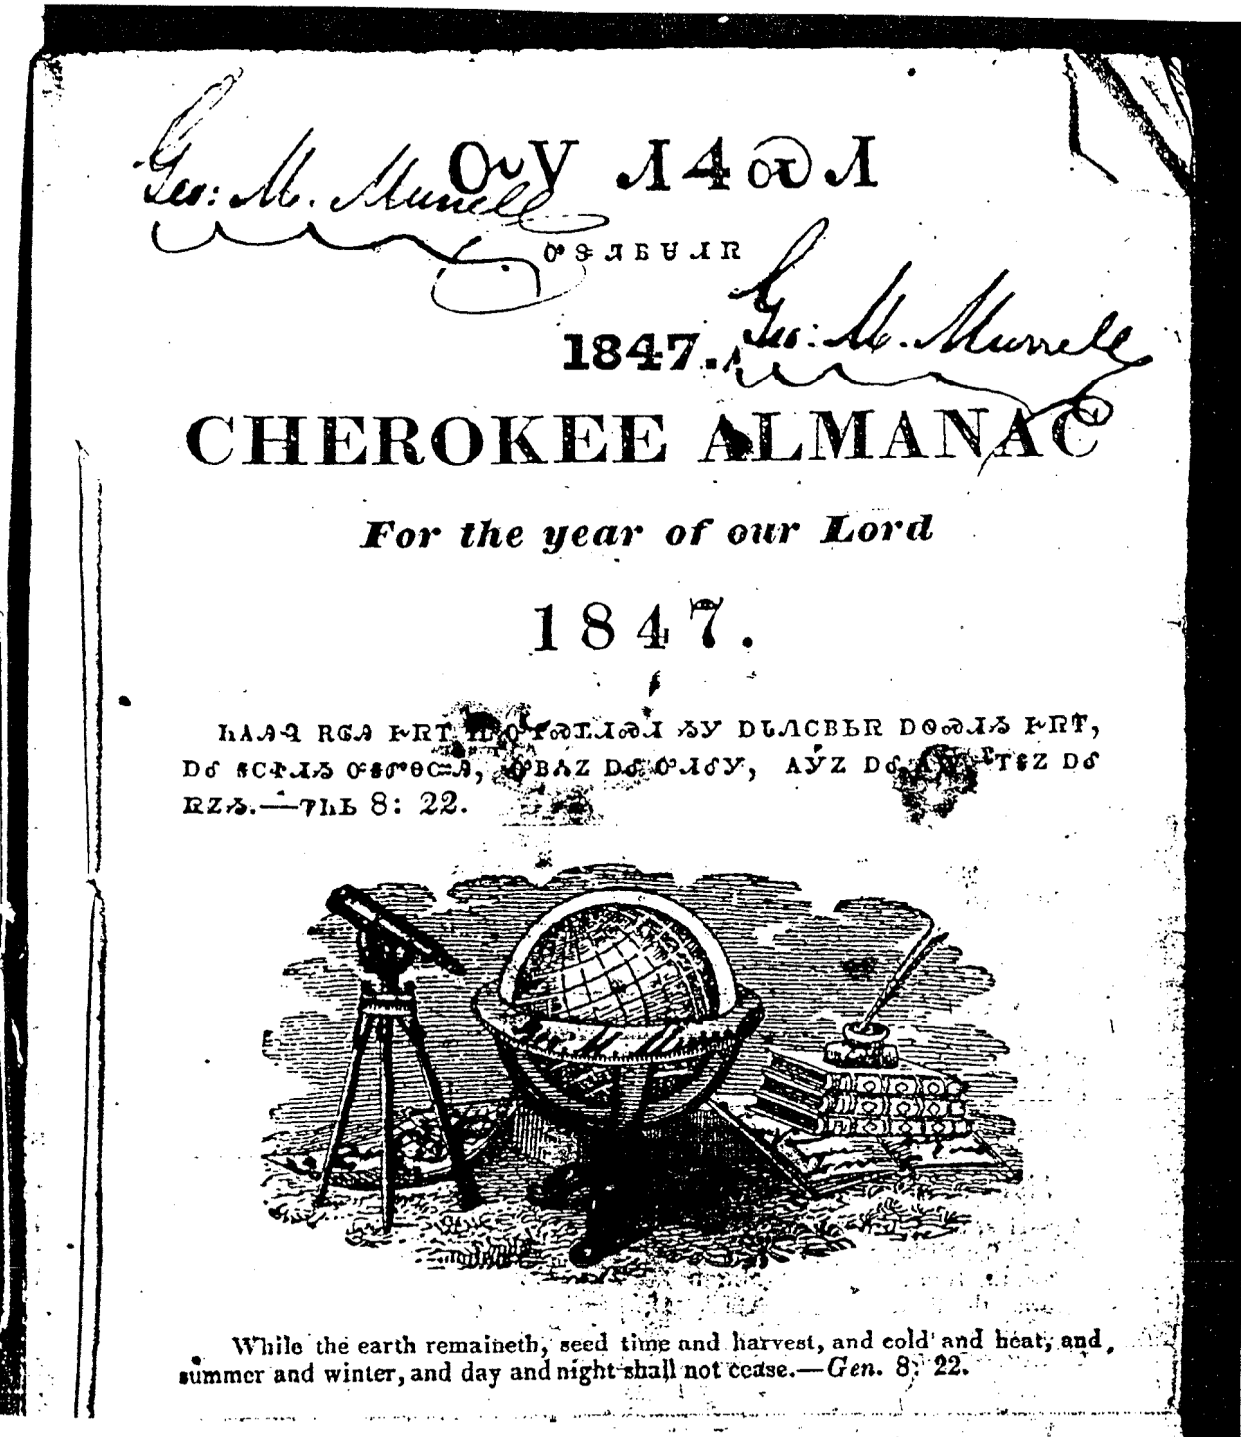

Mr. West gives me the impression that even though this must have been a rough and tumble journey there were possible moments of light heartedness and laughter at the amazement of the Cherokee delegates in England and of English culture. And probably vice versa with the English just as amazed at the Cherokees. One example is when the party was landing ashore in England that Ostenaco "painted in a very frightful manner, sang a solemn dirge with a very loud voice, to return thanks to God for his safe arrival. The loudness and uncouthness of his singing, and the oddity of his person, drew a vast crowd of boats filled with spectators from the ships in the harbor." Another example is when the "Indians were taken to the vast cathedral, one of the most beautiful churches in England, Lt. Timberlake reported that they were no more impressed than if they had been natives of the city." The Indians also saw a statue of "Hercules with uplifted club, which they thought frightful and begged to be taken away at once."

The chapter also tells of an account that was sent to "The Saint James Chronicle" in London tell of the arrival of the Indians and calling them "powerful monarchs, in alliance with Great Britain and capable of raising 10,000 fighting upon any emergency. That they are well-made men, near 6 foot high, dressed in their own country fashion, and with only a shirt, trousers, and mantle around them; their faces are painted a copper color, and heads adorned with shells, feathers, and earrings."

The delegation visited other people and sites on their voyage but were finally announced to the King and were fed and entertained and seemed to enjoy themselves and the crowds of people that come to see them.

Cherokee Almanac – 1847

Excerpts from the Cherokee Almanac have been received from Virginia Perry, MCGS Member. These are all from a roll at the Cherokee Heritage Center, Tahlequah, Oklahoma. The almanac was also partially printed in Cherokee. They are very interesting in that they give a lot of names in government, plus names in Bible Society and Temperance Society. With this issue of the Quarterly, we present an excerpt from the 1847 Cherokee Almanac.

Cherokee Bible Society.

In our Almanac for 1846 we expressed the apprehension that the amount of money to be expended by the Cherokee Bible Society for the purchase of books for that year, would fall short of what it had been for the year preceding. The results, however, did not realize our fears; as the amount expended in the year 1846 was precisely as the year before; being $178, 87 1-2. The number of books purchased, 477, was greater than before, owing to a reduction in the price. We have now the same fears respecting the present year, which we expressed respecting the last, but we should be very glad to meet again with the same kind of disappointment. We do not suppose that the benevolence of the people has diminished; but the prosperity of any such society depends much upon the exertions of a few individuals, who have enough of public spirit to go forward, and keep the wheels in motion. The circumstances of the past year have been in some respects unfavorable to benevolent enterprises.

PLEDGE.

WE hereby solemnly pledge ourselves, that we will never use, nor buy, nor sell, nor give, nor receive, AS A DRINK, any whiskey, brandy, rum, gin, wine, fermented cider, strong beer, or any kind of intoxicating liquor.

We do not know that any Temperance Society in the world is governed by a stricter pledge than that presented above, at least so far as intoxicating liquor is concerned. It may be said, indeed, to be the same in substance with the pledge of the American Temperance Union, but is more definite in its specifications. It was not at first adopted without a struggle. Some contended for the use of wine; and some, who would give up wine, still insisted that cider and beer were harmless. But the struggle was soon over, and the principle of entire abstinence from every liquor, distilled or fermented, which can by any possibility cause a man to stagger and act like a fool, is well established as the basis of the Cherokee Temperance Society. And to the strictness of its pledge, we doubt not, the Society is indebted for the largest share of its prosperity. It is well known and understood to be an effectual pledge—a perfect security, so far as it is kept, against all possibility of becoming or continuing a drunkard. When the pledge of the Cherokee Temperance Society was only to abstain from distilled spirits, its members were sometimes seen drunk, without having broken their pledge. They had drunk only wine or cider—yet they were drunk. Now no man who keeps the pledge is ever seen intoxicated.

We suppose that almost every professor of religion in the nation is also a member of the Temperance Society. Christians,

 WILLIAM P. ROSS, Deputy Marshal,
 R. M. SHINN, Clerk.

 Mischief of Rum-selling.

A tavern keeper in Rensselaer Co., New York, had abandoned the traffic in Alcohol after having been several years engaged in it. Whenever the subject of his selling liquor was referred to, he was observed to manifest feelings of deep regret and sorrow. A friend one day inquired the cause. "I will tell you," said he; and opening his account book he said, "Here are forty-four names of men who have all been my customers, most of them for years—thirty-two of these men to my certain knowledge now lie in the drunkard's grave! ten of the remaining twelve are now living, confirmed sots! These are the fruits of this dreadful and degrading business."

 War.

O War, War! what pencil can portray thy deformities—what skill can calculate thy horrors! Gigantic evil! preceded by terror, followed by devastation, fed by cursed pride, nourished by human wo. Gigantic evil! diffused by tears, by groans, and by blood, the shrieks of widows, and the pangs of the fatherless. Gigantic evil! thou art never satisfied; thy triumphs are those of death, thy carnival is in the grave.—Rev. J. Parsons.

Our hearts re-echo these sentiments. How often has every chord in our bosom vibrated in unison with the notes of the plaintive Jeremiah, "My bowels! my bowels! I am pained at my very heart. My heart maketh a noise within me; I cannot hold my peace; because thou hast heard, O, my soul, the sound of the trumpet, the alarm of war."

And who shall answer for all the blood now being spilt in the sad war between the United States and Mexico, to Him who has said, "Thou shalt not kill." It is happy for the Cherokees that they are neutral in that bloody conflict.

But of all wars, the most terrific is civil war—a war between different parties of the same people—when fellow-citizens form themselves into an army to fight an army of their own fellow-citizens.—Then even families are divided, one part being of one party, and another of the other. The nephew fights the uncle, the son-in-law his father-in-law, and the brother his brother—his own mother's son.—And the nearer the relation the greater the hate, each brother, feeling the more enraged, because it is his own brother that has taken up arms against him.

And how long is it since the Cherokee Nation stood trembling in fearful apprehension of civil war? How long since reports were actually abroad, that one company of Cherokees had gone to meet another company of Cherokees in battle?

Cherokee Almanac - 1847

1847]

CHEROKEE ALMANAC.

33

Many hearts palpitated, many bosoms were weighed down with anxiety, and there were faces that turned pale with fear. Every ear was open to catch the tidings, and every passer-by was questioned, to know what was doing, and whether blood had been shed, and whose, if any. Blessed be God that the dark cloud has passed, civil war is averted, and the nation is at peace. May the same Almighty Power, which has given present peace, continue peace forever.

Patience under Abuse.

A Scotch divine, noted for his patience under abuse, was once passing by, when one of a group of drunkards said to his companions, "There goes a man that can't be made angry." "I can make him angry," said another. "No, you can't," replied the first; whereupon a wager was laid between them. He who was to attempt the fiend-like business took up a stone, with which he struck the good man in the face, and broke out several of his teeth. Wiping the blood from his mouth, and casting a wishful look upon his assailant, he exclaimed, "O man, I would give all the teeth in my head for the salvation of thy soul!" This reply, it is said, was blessed to the poor drunkard's hopeful conversion.

What is God?

It is said that when the Westminster Assembly of divines were engaged in forming the Shorter Catechism, and the subject before the Committee was to frame an answer to the question 'What is God?' all shrunk from the task, overwhelmed with reverential fear. At length it was resolved, as an expression of their deep humility, that the youngest member should first make the attempt. He consented, but begged that the brethren would first unite with him in prayer for light from on high. Then in slow and solemn accents he began, "O God, thou art a spirit, infinite, eternal and unchangeable in thy being, wisdom, power, holiness, justice, goodness and truth." When he ceased, the first sentence of his prayer was immediately written down, as the best answer that could be framed, to the question, What is God?

The Treasures of the Wicked.

Every man is treasuring up stores for eternity:—the good are laying up "treasures in heaven, where moth doth not corrupt;" the evil and impenitent are "treasuring up wrath against the day of wrath." What an idea is this! Treasures of wrath! What ever the impenitent man is doing, he is treasuring up wrath. He may be getting wealth; but he is treasuring up wrath. He may be getting fame; but he is treasuring up wrath. He may be forming pleasing connections; but he is also treasuring up wrath.
