Letter from the President

1992 is soon to be 'Past History' which puts it in the field of our interest. That interest is obvious from the programs presented throughout the year.

Listed are some of the programs offered this year.

Scot-Irish ancestry.

Searching the Census.

Using the Genealogical Helper.

Often over looked resources.

Using the LDS Library.

If you missed any of those programs, it was your loss.

Our Fall Workshop was a real success. The Syllabus alone was worth the fee charged to attend.

I'll take this opportunity to thank you, the members and your Board and Officers for making this a successful year.

Your President

Clayton J. Shambler

VETERAN DIES

D. A. Rogers, Who Heard Lincoln-Douglas Debate, Was Pioneer of City

D.A. Rogers

David Anson Rogers, 87, witness to historic episodes preceding and during the Civil war and a resident of Muskogee for more than 20 years, died at a hospital here early yesterday after an illness of about a week.

As a boy of 12 years, in October, 1858, he was more interested in a game of leap frog than in hearing Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A Douglas engage in one of the debates which is credited with having made Lincoln, rather than Douglas, the Civil war president.

Then as a boy of 16 years, he fought with the Union forces as a volunteer from Illinois in the operations against Vicksburg, Miss.

During his more than 20 years' residence in Muskogee, Mr. Rogers looked after the property interests of C. W. Raymond, former federal judge here and a resident during recent years of Watseka, Ill. Mr. Rogers and Judge Raymond were boyhood playmates.

Mr. Rogers was a native of Illinois, having been reared in Washington of that state. It was there during his boyhood that intersectional bitterness flamed at his highest, with the then Senator Stephen A. Douglas and Abraham Lincoln recognized as leaders of conflicting schools of thought as to the settlement of the slavery question.

It was in 1858 that the episodes credited by historians with having changed the course of national history were enacted. Douglas then was seeking reelection as United States senator from Illinois with Lincoln as his opponent, and they engaged in a series of seven joint debates on issues of the campaign.

One of the debates was held at Metamora, Ill., within 12 miles of Rogers' home, and he, then 12 years old, accompanied several grown persons to the scene. Rogers frequently told of the huge crowd which had assembled and of having noticed the sharp physical contrast between the short, chunky Douglas and the tall Lincoln.

Mr. Rogers related that he occasionally crowded toward the platform to listen to a few words of the debate, but admitted with amusement that he was more interested in a game of leap frog that boys had arranged outside the crowd.

As a boy of 12, Mr. Rogers told that he was a "Douglas democrat," but he became a sincere admirer of Lincoln and during later years, accumulated a sizeable collection of articles relating to him.

Douglas, at the time, was generally considered the victor in the debates as he was reelected to the senate. But Mr. Rogers recounted that history now agrees that in satisfying the Illinois electorate with his stand on the slavery issues, he so dissatisfied others of the free states as to pave the way for his defeat and Lincoln's election as president in 1860.

Following the outbreak of the war, Mr. Rogers enlisted with Company G, 6th Illinois infantry on June 2, 1862.

At that time, Union operations in the west centered in the effort to gain control of the Mississippi, in which Vicksburg was the key, so as to cut the Confederacy in two. The first move, commanded by Admiral Farragut, occupied the summer and part of the autumn of 1862 and Mr. Rogers was a participant throughout. The movement, though unsuccessful, was followed by a second siege which resulted in the surrender of Vicksburg on July 4 and perhaps the hardest of the early blows of the war suffered by the Confederacy.

Rogers completed his term of enlistment in October, 1862 and was discharged.

During the years that followed until the time of his removal, Rogers engaged in railroad work, serving as agent at various points in Illinois.

During his residence here, he had made his home in an apartment in the Harris building, one of the holdings of Judge Raymond.

Mr. Rogers is survived by a sister in Fairbury, Ill. and by a nephew.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN, 85 DIES IN HOSPITAL HERE

William W. Fink Dies At Soldiers' Memorial.
Conduct Funeral Services This Afternoon

William W. Fink, 85 year old Civil war veteran of 907 South D street, died at the Veterans' bureau hospital here at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon following a major operation.

Mr. Fink had been ill for the past two years. Recently the Veterans' bureau decided that veterans of the Civil war were entitled to treatment at bureau hospitals. Mr. Fink's condition became critical Sunday night, so he was taken to the government hospital and placed upon the operating table. he failed to rally from the operation.

Mr. Fink served under General Philip Sheridan during the Civil War with Company D of the 44th Illinois infantry.

He lived in Muskogee for the past 17 years, obtaining employment as a cabinet maker when he first came to this city. His wife died several years ago. He is survived by 3 sons.

Gnitts

The Gnitts community, sometimes called Gnitts Hill was settled shortly after Walter Webben came to La Cascade in 1829. La Cascade was named by the French, meaning 'Waters Falls'.

The Gnitts area was rich in resources. Pecan, Hickory, Black Walnut, Persimmon trees were in abundance. Wild game was plentiful. The soil was good for farming. Coal and salt was later found in the area.

In 1902 Gnitts had a population of 100 and had a daily stage and mail run to Webbens Falls.

The following businesses were there then.

A 'General Store - proprietor - Jesse Ross

Blacksmith shop - Franklin Gnitts.

Stock Connal - D.N. Carlisle.

Drugs & Groceries - Doctor E.E. Tabor and Son.

A Post office was there from March 21, 1896 to Oct. 30, 1909.

Inola NEFF, Guy Waters, Bettie Anderson and Steve Connsilk owned land adjacent to Gnitts.

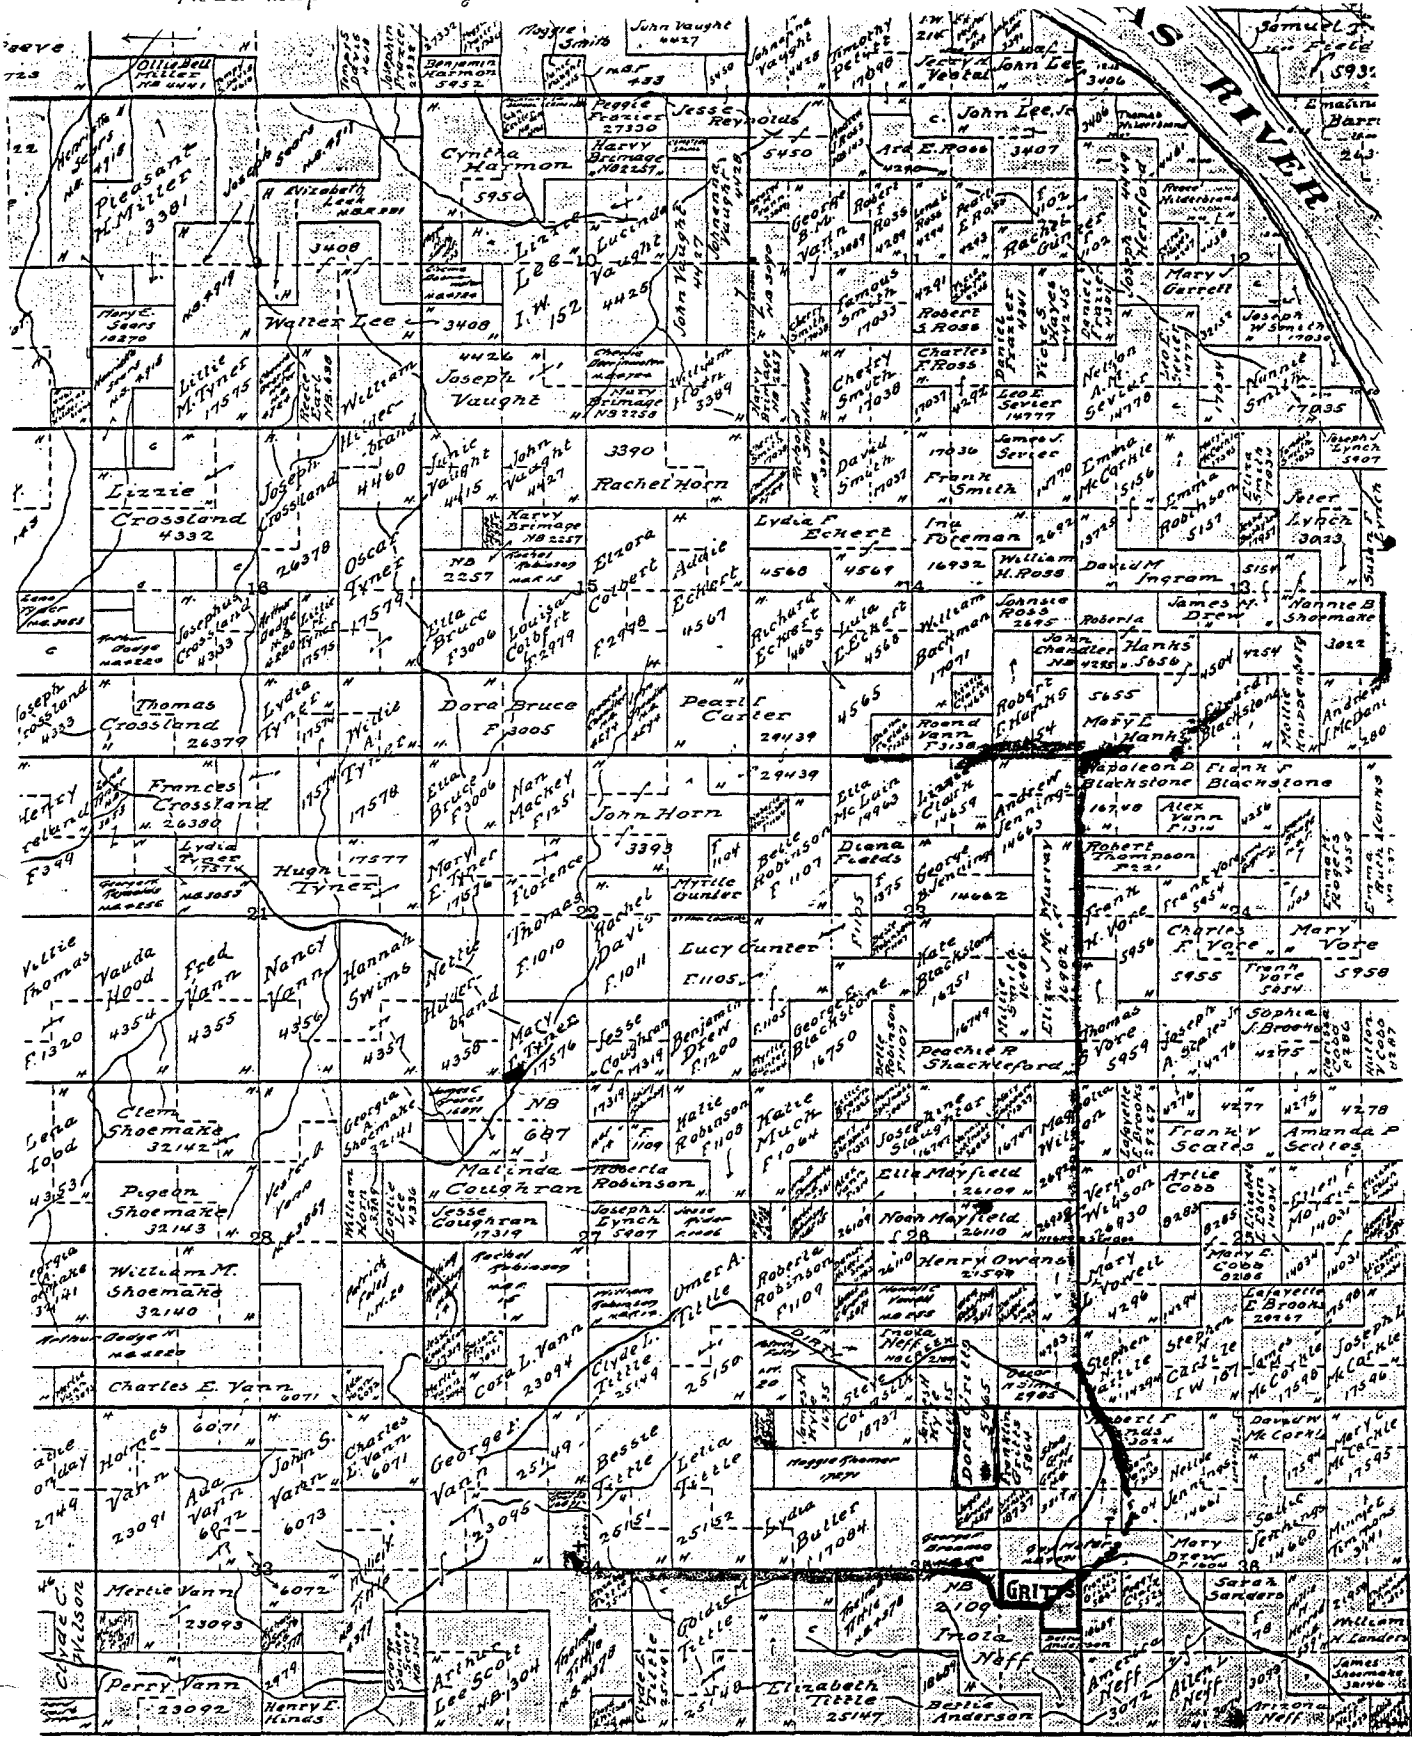

In 1939 some of the old building still stood. M. Dyen lived in the old 'Stone' building. Other people who lived there in '39' are shown the 1939 map. Also shown is the location of the Gnitts cemetery.

GROUP SEEKING BURIAL PLACES OF CIVIL WAR
VETERANS IN STATE

The Muskogee area is the current focus of a statewide effort to register the burial locations of Civil War veterans in Oklahoma.

A large number of Civil War veterans settled in the area and were active in several Civil War veteran's groups, but their burial locations are not known. Information on Union and Confederate veterans is being collected by the Sons of Confederate Veterans. It will be indexed on computer for use by anyone doing historical or genealogical research in libraries nationwide.

The organization has a special interest in finding the graves of Native and African Americans because most of their burial sites have not been registered.

The public is requested to give the name of the veteran, unit and state served, childrens' names, the birth and death dates of both veteran and wife, place of burial and address of current area descendants, if possible.

Please send the information to Deone K. Percy and N. Dale Talkington, 9 E. Janice #103, Yukon, OK 73099 or to Greg Moore, OK Civil War Registrations, P.O. Box 35851, Tulsa, OK 74153-0851.
